

News

Oxane appoints Andrew Tisdall as director

14 February 2020

Oxane has appointed Andrew Tisdall as director, portfolio management solutions, to expand its newly launched loan servicing business.

Tisdall will be tasked with growing the firm's the portfolio management business by leveraging its technology platform. He has more than 22 years of experience in loan operations and was previously at Mount Street as head of loan administration and prior to that was at Morgan Stanley and Barclays.

"I am delighted to join Oxane at a time when it is expanding its footprint in the loan servicing industry," said Tisdall. "I share their vision of enabling the digital transformation of the industry and look forward to playing an active role in the firm's growth moving forward."

Co-founder at Oxane, Sumit Gupta added: "We are very pleased to have Andrew join our team and his appointment highlights our commitment to provide a comprehensive offering to our clients. Andrew brings decades of experience in the loan servicing industry and further adds depth to our platform."